French Duels.

Pistol dueling in France is not quite so harmless as the encounter between General Boulanger and Baron de Larcinty might lead people to suppose. A few of the most remarkable cases are worth mentioning. In 1790 two fiery royalists, M. de Bouille and the Count de Latour d'Auvergne, quarrelled about a trifle met, and the latter was killed on the spot. In 1802 General Regnier, who had a long standing feud with General Destaing, at length called him out and shot him through the heart. Some years later another military duel was fought by Generals Ornano and Bonnet; both were wounded, but Bonnet owed his life to a 5 franc piece in his waistcoat pocket, which deadened the bullet. Under the July monarchy, General Buges insulted Deputy Dulong, and, being challenged, lodged a ball in his opponent's eye, death following a few minutes after. In the famous encounter between Emil de Girardin and Armand Carrel, both were wounded; Carrel received a bullet in his groin and died from it. In 1842 General Levasseur exchanged shots with Commandant Arrighi, and the latter fell mortally wounded in the lung. Another fatal duel occurred in 1845; M. Dujarier, a newspaper proprietor, called out M. de Beauvallon, who shot his antagonist in the head; Beauvallon was accused of foul play and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment. A duel similar to the Boulanger-Lareinty affair took place between the celebrated General Foy and M. de Corday. It arose out of a quarrel in the chamber. The general who had the right to fire first, discharged his weapon the air; his opponent did likewise, and the couple shook hands. In the duel between Gambetta and M. de Fourtou, although the former had only one eye and the latter was almost as blind as a bat, the result was within an ace of being fatal, the bullet of Gambetta whistling near the brain of his adversary.

A Female B. A. Thirteen Years Old.

The advance of the ladies is as marvelous as it is irresistible. Here is Miss Dolores Lleonartay Casanovas, M. D., who has just taken her doctor's degree at Barcelon. She began her university studies at the age of 8, when 13 she became a B. A., and now, at the ripe age of 19, after coming out first in all her examinations, and taking numerous prizes, she is a fully qualified physician and surgeon. Fancy a female B. A., of 13, discoursing on hideous diseases with six-syllabled names and correctly diagnosing and prescribing for her brothers and sisters! But it is what we have got to expect, and the fair Spaniard is to be congratulated on being the first of her sex to show what can be done in the way of rapid devel pment. Miss Dolores, etc., may be fairly addressed, like her namesake sung of by Mr. Swinburne, as "wise among women and wisest, our Lady of Pain."—Pall Mall Gazette.

IRISH CONSPIRACY.

A PAMPHLET CHARGES NATIONALIST MEMBERS WITH FENIANISM.

DISLOYAL OATHS—MR. PARNELL'S CONNECTION WITH SECRET SOCIETIES.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—I am informed to-day that an independent member of Parliament, not hostile to Home Rule, intends to move proceedings against Mr. William Ridgeway, the well-known eminent Piccadilly publisher, for publishing a pamphlet making libellous charges against certain members of Parliament. The pamphlet professes to give authentic details of a conspiracy for repeal of the Union between members of Parliament not named and two organizations known respectively as the Fenian and Irish Republican brotherhood. The following extracts show the specific nature of the libellous charges: "J. J. O'Kelly, whom I well remember swearing in as captain; Martin Joseph Nolan, W. C. O'Brien, Mr. Flynn, Mr. Kenny, Mr. Sheehy, T. P. Gell, Mr. Harris, Dr. Fox, F. X. O'Brien, T. P. O'Connor, T. Healy, Justin Huntly McCarthy and the two Remonds, all members of Parliament, in addition to the oath to be faithful, bear true allegiance to Queen Victoria, have taken the oath: "In the presence of Almighty God I solemly swear allegiance to the Irish Republic now virtually established, and to take up arms when called on to defend its independence and integrity. I also swear to yield implicit obedience to the commands of my superior officers."

SWORN ENEMIES OF ENGLAND.

The pamphlet charges further against these members of the House of Commons with being sworn enemies of England. It also says: "Since 1880 Parnell has been forced deeper and deeper into the labyrinths and is to-day connected through his agents, as I will show, with every stratum of the organization." It further states that Michael Davitt, once a member of the Supreme Council of the Irish Republican Brotherhood, was expelled from that position for several good reasons. It also charges James O'Kelly, M. P., with membership in the Militant Council of the Brotherhood, organized to carry on offensive operations against the British Government and with giving El Mahdi in Egypt information and active support against the British invader. It also charges Mr. Parnell with giving guarantees to the brotherhood to carry on constitutional agitation under which Fenianism could be revived, the land question to be made a motive power and a certain number of Parliamentary seats to be allotted to Fenians. The pamphlet further charges Mr. Parnell with using the Fenian brotherhood to get money, influence and agents, also to taking money in lump sums, which money was used in so many words for rebellion and revolution.

THE PHŒNIX PARK MURDERS.

It also charges that while Frank Byrne managed the Irish vote in England in the interests of Mr. Parnell, Byrne's wife carried over knives, bought by Kelly in Birmingham, to commit the Phœnix Park murders, and escaped being placed in the witness-box by leaving Dublin while her sister took her place in the house, who, being confronted with the now well remembered informer Carey, swore she was not Mrs. Byrne. The pamphlet also charges that orders admitting strangers to the gallery of the House of Commons were given by the Irish members twice to Daly, who had come to London from Paris for the purpose of throwing bombs into the House of Commons. It further charges Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M P., with receiving in the lobby and entertaining Carey, who was then being searched for by detectives in connection with the dynamite outrages in London. Ridgeway can be compelled by the House of Commons to give his authority for these statements under the penalty of imprisonment if he refuses. The respectability and position of the parties implicated give the charges such importance that it will be difficult for the House to refuse to take action.

Where He Could See the Mayor.

St. Paul Globe.

A street fakir, a man who had some patent neckties to sell, mounted a box on one of the street corners and began a harangue to attract a crowd. Drawing three cards, (three Jacks) from his pocket, he said, placing them faces down: "Now let us suppose that the Jack of diamonds is the Prince of Wales and the Jack of clubs President Cleveland, and the Jack of hearts Mayor Rice. Here they are. Now what gent in the crowd would like to see either of the three prominent men?" "I would like to see Mayor Rice," exclaimed a well-neessed young man. "Very well," replied the street fakir, "go up to his house and see him-speak about my patent necktie—"the members of the crowd yelled, and the inqtisitive man went home.

EACH THOUGHT THE OTHER DEAD.

STRANGE COMPLICATIONS GROWING OUT OF TWO WEDDINGS FORTY YEARS APART.

A Chattanooga special despatch says: James Starnes, who returned to this city last week with a pretty young wife after an absence of thirty years in California, believing his first wife dead, only to find the latter alive, is in an unfortunate predicament, He has two wives and doesn't know what to do with one of them. Both Starnes and his first wife believed each other dead, as he had gone west to seek a home for his family and was never heard from. Neither could he learn a word concerning his wife, as she never received his letter or $1,000 which he sent her. Starnes was married in 1840, and the couple were devoted to each other. Now that he has found her alive and that she has remained true to her troth plighted forty six years ago, his old love has been rekindled, and yet he loves the young wife whom he brought from California and who fairly worships her aged husband. They are all living in the same house at present, but this state of affairs cannot last long, as the wives, who at first were affectionate towards each other are becoming very jealous. The husband cannot decide which wife will have exclusive claim to his affections. The two baby boys whom he left when he went west now have families, while by his second wife he has a 4 year-old girl.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. ap9-eod-dw

In the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

WHEREAS, PURSUANT TO A DECREE OF the Supreme Court of British Columbia, made in the matter of the estate of William Turgoose, in a cause, Sadler and Turgoose against Sandover, the creditors of the said William Turgoose were required to send in their claims to the Registrar of this Honorable Court on or before the 15th day of June last past: And whereas, in the opinion of this Court, it is desirable that further time should be given for a final adjudication upon claims against the said estate, therefore, pursuant to a further order in the matter of the said estate and in the said action, the creditors (who have not already filed their claims) of William Turgoose, late of South Saanich, who died on the 22nd day of January, 1886, are, on or before the 20th day of September, 1886, to send by post, prepaid, to Charles Wilson, the Solicitor for the Plaintiffs, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claim, a statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them, or in default thereof they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said decree. Every creditor holding any security is to produce the same before the Registrar of this Honorable Court, at his office James Bay, Victoria, on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1886, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, being the time appointed for adjudicating on the claims.

THE USE OF OIL ON THE SEA.

The practice of using oil as a means of subduing the violence of heavy seas is extending. This practice should be encouraged. The instances are now sufficiently numerous to warrant the assertion that no shipmaster has done his duty who does not use oil to prevent "combers" from striking his vessel. At times the oil may fail to be of value. The chances, however, are almost all in its favor. It is unnecessary to point to the many cases in which it has been used with the greatest success. Among the many lately we need only use that in the case of the steamship Werra in order to convince these doubting Thomases who are still incredulous as to the great value claimed for oil as a preventive of casualties. Captain Trout, of the British steamer Venetian, which recently picked up at sea and towed into Boston the disabled German steamer Werra, says that on the evening of August 3 a strong W. N. W. gale prevailed, and heavy seas were constantly breaking over the bow of the Werra, endangering the low lines and threatening the loss of the tow. Captain Trout caused an oil bag to be hung from each side of the Venetian and towed some distance astern, with the instant result of smoothing the sea about the disabled ship. The captain and officers of the Werra gathered on the forecastle and tried to make out what the Venetian was doing to accomplish such gratifying results. The next morning signals were exchanged on the subject, the Werra reporting that after the oil bags were hung out the vessel made much better weather, not a drop of water broke on board, and the ship was in all respects more comfortable. This is simply additional evidence of the wonderful efficacy of oil in reducing the turbulence of the heavy seas that so often threaten a vessel's safety. It is but a few years ago that the practice of so using oil was almost entirely unknown. At the suggestion of the Maritime Register several shipmasters experimented with oil with the most gratifying effect. Accounts of their experiments were widely published, inciting other shipmasters to make trials with the result that to-day the practice has become widely known, and, it may be said, will hereafter be resorted to generally on ship board in cases of dangerous seas. It is to be remembered, however, that many shipmasters are yet unconvinced. It is necessary, therefore, to keep this matter persistently before the maritime public until every vessel will carry oil to be used in breaking down heavy seas, and thus prevent that pounding from waves which is now so frequent a source of disaster.

THE MERCANTILE MARINE.

For some four or five years past there has been, all over the world, a decided depression of trade in the mercantile marine—amongst sailing ships at any rate. The principal reasons for this are that there are too many of them for the demand of the present carrying trade; and also, owing to the advantage that steamers offer for quicker transit, sailing vessels have difficulty in obtaining profitable charters. Instance could be made of a ship coming all the way from England in ballast merely to load with lumber on the Pacific coast for China. Sailing freight of coal from Philadelphia to Boston, which not many years ago was $4 per ton, has now been reduced to 90 cents; and vessels which a few years back refused 60s. for wheat from San Francisco for Europe, have since been glad to accept far less—in some cases taking as low as 29 6d. At present, however, the average ruling rate at the Bay city for this cargo is 40s. The four-masted ship Ocean King, after having refused a charter of 60s from San Francisco for Europe, laid idle in the bay a length of time that would have permitted her to have made two voyages and return. The ship Highlander, hailing from Salem, Massachusetts, arrived in ballast at San Francisco after having waited in vain for a cargo at Hongkong. Not being offered what her owners considered a reasonably profitable charter, she laid at her berth there for the modest period of three years, at the end of which time the charge for wharfage had amounted to $20,000,—a larger sum than the vessel herself would fetch. The firm to which she belonged was rich, the money was paid, and the Highlander once more sailed for Hongkong in ballast. From there she went to Manila, also in ballast, where she was finally chartered for New York, to which port she is now on her way. The refusal to accept cargoes except at certain figures shows a protest against the decline from former prices, and a vain struggle against a depression as great as it is general. Shipbuilding in the eastern maritime provinces of Canada has become a paralyzed industry, and the most fortunate of sailing-ship owners are just about holding their own. Altogether the present outlook for merchant sailing vessels is not a cheerful one.

THE BULGARIAN REVOLT.

The popular idea that Russia is "running the show" in Bulgaria is probably correct; but it is improbable that she will be allowed to shift the scenes without first having consulted the other powers. Russian gold doubtless influenced the Bulgarian premier to betray Alexander; but if the latest dispatches are correct the traitor's punishment will not be long delayed. Alexander was caught napping. Before he was well aware of the intention of his treacherous first minister he had been hurried on board a yacht and was on his way out of the country. The deposed prince, who is a brave soldier, is a brother of the husband of Princess Beatrice and only last year whipped the Servians and wrung from the Porte important concessions. Germany and Austria will scarcely permit Russia to reap any important territorial advantages through the uproar in Bulgaria, since Russian intrigue is directed against Alexander because he is a German, the object being to place a Slav on the throne and thus deceive an ally when the time shall have arrived for a general advance on Turkey. Emperor William is a very old man and will make many sacrifices in the interests of peace; but he can scarcely be expected to sit idle while the treaty of Berlin is being torn to pieces and the integrity of the Turkish empire is imperilled. No love is lost between Russia and Germany. Neither dare disband its great armies, for fear the best equipped army would spring at the other's throat. Russia's appetite for real estate is mordinate; but that is no reason why she should be suffered to gobble up another Turkish principality without exciting the above hostility by her powerful and warlike neighbours. The Russian movement in Bulgaria will not prove successful.

The Sealing Schooner Seizures.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have read your editorials on this subject with much interest, but you do not state at what point, in the Alaskan waters, the seizures were made. The Times gave the long. and lat. in blank, and this vague information was not augmented by any other evidence showing where the seizures were made; but I presume it was in Kamschatka sea. We should not take an untenable position. There is a way to settle the difficulty much more favorably to Victoria than to permit an unlimited slaughter of the seals. Every fair thinking American will agree with your position that Russia never owned any part of the "high seas," hence could not convey the same, but the primary question seems to be, was the seizure made upon the high seas? If the seizure was made between the Aleutian isles and Behring strait then the schooners will be obliged to rely upon a defence more tenable than the "high seas privilege," for according to precedent Kamschatka sea would be deemed territorial waters. I refer to the principle of international law, which was declared so early as the publication of Rynkershoek's "De Dominio Maris," that where one nation owns all the land sheltering or nearly surrounding any body of water, they of right own the water so sheltered. The Mediterranean sea was the absolute property of the Romans while they owned both shores thereof; and so the Black sea was held by the Turks at the time they occupied its surrounding shores; the Dutch republic granted to England the British seas along with naval honors, and the British crown has always claimed the "King's Chambers," though a point midway between two promontories be 20 miles from land. Charles II granted to Prince Rupert (Hudson's Bay Co.,) the sole privilege of trading into Hudson's bay, and Canada claims the Straits of Fuca and Gulf of Georgia as far south as the boundary line, although extending much further than three miles from shore, all of which illustrates that the three miles limit applies only to shores adjacent to open seas. The extent of inland seas depends relatively upon the lands surrounding. The Gulf of Georgia would be high seas if Vancouver island was no larger than Jones' island. So with Alaskan waters—the Russians acquired title to the surrounding lands by occupancy in 1741, and also the waters thereof. Behring strait to the north of this sea is only forty miles wide, while the Isles of the Aleutian archipelago forming its southern boundary, are linked so closely that anthropologists have called them "stepping stones" by which the aborigines came; so uniformly close are they that work was commenced to establish telegraphic communication with Europe by carrying the wires from island to island, and rock to rock, and was not abandoned until the Atlantic cable was successfully operated. These isles form a breakwater and turn the Japan current, a most conclusive argument that they shelter the Kamschatka sea. Moreover, there is no passage to that sea wider than the mouth of Hudson strait. The principle of title by prescription will also arise, and the doctrine of equitable estoppel will cut some figure, since we have seen the United States pay $7,200,000 for the territory, without making protest. It seems manifest, therefore, that Uncle Sam has a good title to all the waters granted between Behring Strait and a line drawn parallel to and three miles south of the Aleutian Isles, and if the treaty purported to convey more it was simply surplusage and void as regards the rest. The United States has a right to regulate the hunting of seals within these territorial waters; and it is to the interest of Victoria that the wholesale shooting of female seals with young should be stopped; but the course for us to pursue is to urge the abolition of the exclusive lease system, and demand, equally with Americans, the privilege of hunting in Alaskan waters for the same reasons now put forward by the Americans in support of their claim to the privilege of fishing in our eastern waters. An unrestrained leave to hunt seals would be unwise; and it would be fair that the U. S. should have some revenue from so great an investment. It would probably be satisfactory to both nations to issue a license, under certain regulations, indiscriminately to Canadian and American vessels upon payment of the same sum per seal taken now charged the Alaska Co. which company should be abolished. Then the Queen Charlotte islands and Alaska would be settled, and, following this, would be the building of the railway suggested by "J. H. S." when Victoria would receive from that source $1,000,000 of trade annually.

Card Playing Girls.

There are so many ways in which girls can be amusing, entertaining and useful to themselves and others that it seems a great pity, says the Philadelphia Ledger, that any of them should resort to the common vices of coarse men. That they do so in the evening entertainments of private and elegant homes, and at the most fashionable summer resorts, appears to be beyond question. And that the result will appear in unlooked-for demoralizations in the future of what is called good society may be set down as among the certainties of natural law. Young ladies may not be expressly susceptible to such prosy moral arguments, but they should not forget that the young men who gamble with them, and who appear to enjoy the fun, lose their respect for young ladies in the exact measure that the latter cease to be governed by the fine womanly feelings and standard of character. Men may laugh at the shrewdness of a girl in a game of cards for stakes, but she is not the girl they will trust or honor, or that they care to marry. That is an argument to the quick, and may find its way home. The man who marries a gambling girl is already an incipient suiter in a divorce court.

Russia on the Pacific.

Moscow, Aug. 18—The Viedmosti says: "The more Russia is forced back from Eastern Europe the more she will devote her attention to Asia, where her task is far from completed. In regard to the occupation of Port Lazareff, the paper says no protests or intrigues will prevent Russia from occupying a worthy position on the Pacific.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sexton, Parnellite, gave notice in the commons this evening of his intention to move the following amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech: "We humbly represent to your majesty that circumstances accountable for the recent riots in Belfast dictate the necessity for special measures to maintain order there, the most urgent of these measures being the reestablishment of your Majesty's authority in a district wherefrom the police have been expelled by an increase of local constabulary to such strength as will enable it to deal with any probable contingency."

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, in replying to Russell, who yesterday gave notice of his intention to move to-day the adjournment of the house of commons for the purpose of ascertaining if the object of the government in sending Gen. Sir Redvers Buller to Ireland was to establish martial law, declared that the general was not sent to Ireland to establish martial law, nor to strain the ordinary law, but merely to assist the civil authorities in the work of preserving social order, and in detecting and punishing crime. This reply was not deemed satisfactory by the opposition, and Russell moved an adjournment. The whole opposition, consisting of the Gladstone and Parnellite members, arose in support of the motion, and Russell proceeded to contend that the policy of the government was to degrade Ireland to the level of a savage and barbarous country. He made a vigorous speech in which he said that Buller was only known as a military man, and it had been predicted that he (Buller) would treat moonlighters as rebels.

Lord Randolph Churchill replied at length, corroborating Hicks Beach's statement, and defending the government policy. He was opposed to an adjournment, and in conclusion said "the motion will not have a practical issue; the government refuses to discuss the merits of General Buller's appointment, and will have nothing more to do with the discussion. (cheers.)

Chamberlain resuming the debate on the address, in reply to the Queen's speech, said that his only objection to the first part of Parnell's amendment was that it was a needless address, unless the House was prepared to act upon it. In regard to the second part it implied a censure of government, and he would do nothing to expel the present government while that which would replace it was committed to a policy of separation. He was cautioned several times to keep within the amendment, and finally the speaker interfered. Chamberlain appealed for the same indulgence as was granted to other members. [Cries of "No."] There were two sides to the rent question—willingness and ability. They wanted to know whether tenants would be permitted to pay if they were willing and also whether the Parnellites supported Mr. Parnell's attitude when he said at Chicago that it was their duty to make English government in Ireland impossible. [Cheers] If the Parnellites repudiated that speech they must also repudiate American donations.

Mr. Russell followed, and complained that Chamberlain's speech had been replete with language insulting to his former colleagues and friends. Lord Randolph Churchill asked for a promise that the debate should terminated to-morrow, otherwise, he said, he would oppose an adjournment. Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Sexton agreed to the suggestion, and the debate was accordingly adjourned.

Sir J. E. Gorst, undersecretary for India, stated that the loss of life caused by the breaking of the Irriwaddy river embankment, in Mandalay, Burmah, was only 25. No Europeans had been drowned.

The British foreign office has been informed that Prince Alexander is both safe and free, and that he is on his way to his home in Darmstadt. Dispatchs state that after being conveyed out of Bulgaria the Prince was set free at Reni. It is believed here that if Prince Alexander learns of a counter revolution in his favor he will at once return to Sofia. His presence there will, it is believed, quell all disorders and restore peace to the country.

The Morning Post has dispatches from Stamboul saying that the greatest excitement prevails these owing to Russia's intention to occupy Bulgaria as a military depot. Orders have been given to recruit 30,000 men in Syria. The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: Emperor William, on hearing of the seizure and kidnapping of Prince Alexander, wrote a sharp letter to the czar expressing his amazement and indignation. When the king of Servia heard of events at Sofia he said, "It is the greatest piece of infamy ever perpetrated in Europe. If I knew where Alexander was I would sacrafice all I possess to afford him assistance." The report of the arrival of Alexander at Darmstadt is not confirmed.

Lord Salisbury will to-day conduct the experiment of cutting a field of oats with electric machinery.

The News this morning says: "Mr. Chamberlain's speech is the most powerful contribution in defense of the government since the meeting of the house. There is clearly no prospect of his return to the liberal party. He will resist any measure, however just, likely to bring Mr. Gladstone back to power. This combination of personal animosity and perversion of party spirit could scarcely go further."

It is reported that Lord Randolph Churchill intends to protract the Saturday sitting of the house of commons until all the amendments to his address have been disposed of.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, Aug. 26—The present condition of the shipping trade is the worst on record. Thirty four steamers and 33 sailing vessels are rotting at their docks, having been idle some two years. This state of affairs is attributed to the low freights and the general depression in business.

Another Exposure of Spiritualism.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Elsie Reynold's spiritualistic frauds were again exposed last night. She had made preparation for an elaborate seance, and the spirit was unfortunate enough to respond to the request of a Mr. Julius Cullandun who proved to be a detective officer. When he approached the spirit it embraced him, and he quickly responded by throwing his arms around it, and to his astonishment he clasped human flesh and blood. The ghost shrieked and struggled, but the detective who knew when he had a good thing held on with unyielding grasp, and called for lights. The audience too confused to respond rose in consternation and dispersed, while the last seen of the ghost was his being handed into a hack en route for the police station, where he gave his name as Bailey.

YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Bulgarian Trouble.

SOFIA, Aug. 26—A single regiment of troops, with the assistance of a number of military cadets, accomplished the work of deposing Alexander. Before proceeding against the Prince the revolutionists arrested the commander of Alexander's regiment, which was at Slivnitza. The provisional government seeing that the populace are violently loyal to the deposed Prince, resigned office and liberated the commander, who at once brought his regiment from Slivnitza and disarmed the regiment which had assisted in the Prince's arrest, and the political leaders who managed the coup d'etat. The powers have recognized the government formed by Karaveloff as Premier. The provisional government has assured the Porte that the movement in favor of Alexander is not inimical to Turkey, and has asked the Porte to reopen the railway between Constantinople and Philippopolis.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 26—Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, stated in the Commons this afternoon that the loyal troops had entered Sofia on Tuesday, with the consent of the powers. The exact whereabouts of Alexander, the secretary said, was unknown to the British government, but telegrams had been forwarded to him inviting him to return and resume his rule in Bulgaria.

The Queen telegraphed to Bucharest yesterday for news relating to Prince Alexander of Bulgaria.

Prince Bismarck's usual courtesy in visiting Degiers is much commented upon. It is the general opinion that Russia will not allow Prince Alexander to reascend the throne.

By way of Vienna it is learned that the Czar has permitted Prince Alexander to proceed to Germany by way of Odessa.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 26.—A dispatch from St. Pierre announces the total loss of the French ship Letoiel. She was commanded by Captain Sheereil and was manned by a crew of twenty one fishermen. She was returning fish laden with others of the Grand Bank fleet when, during the prevalence of a dense fog and a very boisterous sea, she struck yesterday morning off the reefs of Kalanize and Lamaitre, and was scattered in pieces and immediately sunk. Twelve of the crew were drowned; while nine, with the captain, were washed through the boiling surf and were landed among shingle and sea weed off the shore in an apparently lifeless condition. A fishing vessel at Port de Grave was also lost. Captain Butler, his son and all hands perished.

WELLINGTON'S COMICAL DUEL.—Speaking of General Boulanger's recent duel, the London News says: After all, it is perhaps not much more comical than the duel between the Duke of Wellington and Lord Winchilsea in 1829. In the course of a debate on Catholic emancipation, Lord Winchilsea described the Duke, then Prime Minister, as having come forward in a novel character as the defender of morality and religion. A challenge followed, which the Duke, of all men, might have abstained from giving; and the Duke, as he afterwards told the story, determined not to kill his antagonist, lest he should be detained in prison pending his trial, but to hit him in the legs. Lord Winchilsea's seconds placed him so near a ditch that the Duke with difficulty restrained himself from calling out. "If you put him there he will fall in." The Duke failed to hit Lord Winchilsea's legs, and missed him altogether. Thereupon Lord Winchilsea fired into the air and read a written apology. The Duke went down to Windsor, and the following remarks were interchanged between the King of England and the first Minister of the Crown: The Duke—I have to inform your Majesty that I fought a duel this morning. The King—I'm devilish glad to hear it Arthur. Such was the dignified and appropriate language of the first gentlemen in Europe. What did M. Grevy say.

DEATHS.

At Hillside, August 26th, in the 47th year of his age, John Work, eldest son of the late John Work, of the Hudson's Bay Co.

The funeral will take place on SATURDAY, at 2 p. m , from the family residence, and at 2:30 p. m. from St. John's Church.

Personal.

At the Occidental: Charles Bowden, Cowichan; Wm Taylor, Seattle.

Messrs H S Rowe, general superintendent, and J H Huddlestone, auditor of the O R. & N. Co., left for the south yesterday, Lieut. Colonel Houghton, of Winnipeg, is expected in this city shortly from Winnipeg.

Mr E. D. Sparrow, representing the San Francisco Chronicle, is in the city. His trip will extend to Alaska.

Gen Sherman is expected to arrive in the city to-day from the Sound. After spending a few days in the city he will proceed east via the Canadian Pacific railway.

Coun. Smith is confined to his room by illness.

Dr. J Folkman, editor and proprietor of the Staats Zeitung, Portland, is in the city. It is the intention of the doctor to devote a considerable portion of his most creditable publication to British Columbia matters. He goes to the mainland today.

Mr. Charles Cowan, of Cowichan, is in town.

Mr. S. R Hesson, M. P. for North Perth, Ontario, is staying in the city. Mr Hesson, who journeyed from the east by the Canadian Pacific, has been nearly a month on the way, having stayed over at many points along the line. He expects to be in Victoria about a month.

Hon. John Robson was a passenger by the steamer R P. Rithet yesterday from the mainland.

At the Driard: Dr J. W. Graham, wife and 3 children, Denver, Col., Mrs. W. Beet and daughter, Portland, Mrs. J. Hunt and daughter, Seattle; Henry V. Edmonds, New Westminster; E A Gardner, Seattle.

Messrs F. C. Gamble, James Laidlaw and W. Wolfenden came down on the steamer R. P. Rithet yesterday.

Officer Gaydon, his many friends will be pleased to learn, has left the hospital and is now at home in a fair way of recovery.

Mr. G. A. Carleton (manager of the C. P. N C .) and Mr. W. H Mixer were among the arrivals from Vancouver yesterday.

Capt. John Irving returned from the mainland last night.

Cyrus W. Field will arrive here with Sir Donald Smith's party from Montreal.

Mr. Joseph Gosnell was a passenger by the steamer Yosemite this morning for the mainland.

The Sealers Still Out.

The fleet which departed for the northern waters two months since to pursue the sportive seal in interdicted waters is as follows: American — Schooners San Diego, City of San Diego, Theresa. Lookout and Vanderbilt; British—Schooners Mary Ellen, Favorite, Onward, Thornton, Carolena, Dolphin, Grace, W. P. Sayward, Alfred Adams, Active, Black Diamond, and Pathfinder; Japanese—Schooner Adela. Of these the Thornton, Dolphin and Grace are steamers. The Onward, Thornton, Carolena and San Diego have been seized by the American cutter; and the Alfred Adams is reported in the straits with a good catch, bound in.

WRECKED —Last Sunday H. E Levy loaded his fishery outfit at Point Roberts on a scow, which was taken in tow by the steamer Virginia, for Seattle. On the trip the scow was towed on a ledge of rocks just off Barnes' and Clark's island, known as the Sisters, located near the Gulf of Georgia. The tide was high when the barge struck, and when the tide ebbed, the whole outfit was left high and dry. Mr. Levy left the wreck in disgust, giving it up for lost. Morgan & Hastings chartered the tug Holyoke to go over, and assist in pulling the scow off the rocks, but as to whether she was successful or not, we have been unable to learn.—Post Intelligencer.

We learn that the scow in question has since succeeded in getting off the rocks by jettisoning half of her cargo of salt.

BEGINNING TO DAY the Sound steamers will land at and depart from Messrs. Turner, Beeton & Co's wharf, foot of Yates street. The O. R. & N. company has leased this wharf for a number of years.

IMPROVING.—The condition of W. R. Higgins is such as to inspire his friends with hope for his ultimate recovery.

MISS DICKINSON will open the Kindergarten school on the 16th on Kane street, four doors east of Blanchard. *

THE CROSS IN THE NORTH.

Archbishop Seghers' Trouble with Chilcats.

He is Robbed by an Indian Rob Roy.

It appears that after charging Archbishop Seghers double price for services the chief of the Chilcat Indians laid violent hands on his grace and took all the money he had in his pockets. The archbishop wrote to a friend at Juneau as follows:

CHILCOOT, Mouth of Dayay River, July 23, 1886

MR. P. BRADY—Dear Sir: I am sorry to have to trouble you again with the herewith enclosed order. The Indians are vexatious in the extreme. There is no doubt they are very bad fellows. There will be serious trouble some day if their wickedness is not stopped. After making a bargain they break it time and time again, always raising the price: that is the way they treated us, and treated miners before we got there. The second chief of the Chilcats is as bad as the old chief. We have shown him every kindness and yet we cannot get along. Their object is evident, first, to monopolize the packing business and then to extract lots of money under various pretences. This second chief, after agreeing we should pay $13 for every one hundred pounds, now claims $15 for himself for carrying only fifty pounds, and $10 for bringing us here from the Chilcat village, $5 75 for crossing us five times over the Dayay river, and broke the bargain we had made with an old man who had agreed to cross us all for $1.25—present of $1 from each of us for his services. That is what puts us in a quandary, by rendering us short of money. I am, therefore, compelled to resort again to your benevolence, and I authorize you to make any use you desire of this note. The chief's intimidations and violence I advisedly left out, Respectfully yours,

CHAS J. SEGHERS,
Archbishop.

Governor Swineford afterwards sent the cutter and arrested the red-skinned Rob Roy.

Still They Come!

Another strong proof of the curative power of magnetism is being brought before the public by the statement signed before John J Austin, Esq., yesterday, made by Mrs Elizabeth Booth, a well-known and well-to do 28 year resident of Salt Spring Island, who avers that she has been a sufferer from rheumatism and stiff and swollen joints for over five years, and that she has been rapidly cured by Prof Menzies, who has also removed partial impediments to her sight, and greatly improved her general health.

New Westminster.

(Special to the Colonist.)

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug 25 — Iron was laid on the city branch to Law's foundry to-day, and by to-morrow evening will be completed to the lower end of Ewen's wharf, where it will probably terminate until the question of the right of way between that point and the Royal City mills is settled.

COAL REPORT —The following is from J. W. Harrison's San Francisco circular dated Aug. 7th: "The arrivals for this week have been from Great Britain and Australia 7,154 tons; from the northern collieries 10,400 tons. Jobbers and dealers report good trade from yard at fair figures. The advance asked by importers for Australian has handicapped business, and consumers are holding off, anticipating to purchase their requirements at former figures, although the present asking rates are exceedingly low when compared with former years, and taking present outward grain freights, added to the nominal coal freight inward, it cannot much more than pay the current expenses of the vessel. It evidences that freight rates everywhere must be at a low ebb when this port appears to be so anxiously sought. Two months ago there was not a single vessel listed to load coal at Baltimore for here; now there are eight en route and to be loaded."

A HEAVY FALL —One of the new masts for electric lighting stands at the top of North Park street, and is nearly ready for use. On Wednesday night at about 8.30 o'clock the weight which balances the hoisting cage came down with a run, and so great was the violence of the fall that a resident who, hearing the noise, ran out to see the cause, found the weight nearly buried in the ground. The mishap is thought to have been the work of boys.

OVERDOSE OF MORPHIA —J. M. Stiles, formerly of Rochester, New York, and more recently of Vancouver, a correspondent of the Rochester newspapers, died suddenly in San Francisco on Tuesday night from an overdose of morphine. His body was at the morgue unclaimed Among his effects were three bank books. One of them showed $700 to his credit in the First National bank of San Francisco, the second $625 in a San Diego bank, and the third $700 in a bank in this city.

A PROMISING COLT.—At the State Fair Trotting Ground at Salem lately, a three-year old cold named "Nick L," won a mile heat race. The best time it made was 2:52 As this colt has had only a few weeks driving, and is already said to be the best in Oregon, it is only fair to mention that it was sired by Inauguration, the property of Mr. R. Purver, of Saanich.

KILLING DEER —A farmer living near Parson's bridge states that about ten days ago he saw a gang of ten Chinamen, in charge of a white man, all carrying guns, going in the direction of Goldstream, evidently for the purpose of killing deer for the hides. It is no secret that this state of things has been going on for some time, and the culprits should be punished as they deserve.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE —Yesterday morning a little boy named William Hayes was knocked down and run over by a buggy at the corner of Pandora and Douglas streets. One of the wheels passed over the child's body; but he leaped to his feet and started for home at a rapid pace, being apparently but little hurt. So far as could be seen no bones were broken. The driver was in no way to blame for the accident.

What Some People Say.

That the Holstein cow Clotilde, owned by Smith, Powell & Lamb of Syracuse, New York, closed her six-year old record She has given during that time a little more than 26 000 lbs. of milk, or about 70 lbs. a day. The highest previous record was 23,775 lbs., made three years ago by the cow Eoh, owned in Attica,

That the Poodle Dog restaurant at San Francisco has failed.

That a clearance sale of Straw Hats, AT COST, is now going on at the "Golden Rule Clothing Store," Yates street. 2w

That the sensation of the day at Philadelphia is the charges published for the week past by the Times against William B Smith, mayor of the city, in which the latter is openly accused of being a thief and embezzler to the amount of many thousand dollars. The only reply the mayor has made to the very grave charges is that he has not money enough to engage in a lawsuit.

That the Bank of England has advanced its rates of discount from 2½ to 3½ per cent.

That the finest-fitted and most fashionable establishment in the city is the Poodle Dog Saloon, next to the Poodle Dog restaurant on Yates street. *

That Mexicans since the Cutting affair annoy and insult Americans.

That a motion has been made at San Francisco to disbar W. H. L. Barnes for alleged attempts to bribe M. Gumpel to give testimony in the Sharon divorce case contrary to his belief, and for alleged bribery of J. A. McLoughlin, clerk of Mr. Tyler, to remove certain papers connected with said divorce suit from Mr. Tyler's office.

That a Chinese Salvation corps has been started at San Francisco by one white and four Chinese.

That there is an agent of the Alaska Commercial company in this city collecting evidence in connection with the recent seizure of the sealing schooners. An inspection of John Bull's warships at Esquimalt might supply him with food for reflection.

That ladies or gentlemen purchasing boots at the B. C. Boot and Shoe Store can have the buttons replaced firmly by our new machine, without charge. One second required only for each button.

That a celebrated divine was preaching before the king and court in Stuart times, when the monarch and several noblemen "nodded gentle assent" to all he said, for "they slumbered and slept." The divine, wishful to reprove, but fearful to offend, at last summoned courage to shout to one of the somnolent nobles, "My lord, my lord, don't snore so loud, or you'll waken his majesty."

That a little girl went visiting one day and after a time was given the album of family photographs to look at. She turned the leaves over carefully, and pretty soon closed the book. "Well, dear," asked the hostess, "did you look at the album?" "Oh, yes," answered the little maid, brightly. "And we've got one 'zactly like it, only the pictures are prettier."

That the debt of the city of Berlin amounts to 157 500,000 marks, of which sum 1,509,000 marks will be redeemed in the course of this year. This indebtedness averages 112 marks per capita of the population—a figure about 50 per cent. less than that of Vienna (170 marks) and only about one-fifth of the debt of Paris. A mark is about twenty four cents.

That twenty five years ago three brothers named Dwyer were separated. They met the other day in a shipyard at Bath, Me., where two of them had been working for some time without knowing of the relationship. The third, a sailor, came to the yard, and the kinship was accidentally discovered.

That two tramps walking on the Fort Wayne railroad track on Saturday saw a little child playing on the track, and at the same time saw a train approaching. One of them, August Gotlieb, ran for the child, reached it just in time to throw it from the track, and then was ground to death under the wheels of the locomotive.

That a story comes from a Massachusetts summer resort to the effect that a city chap taking a seat on an old stump there thought he heard the rattle of a rattlesnake. He sprang to his feet and rushed to the hotel, howling all the way as the rattling grew louder, and finally fell down in a swoon. A box of sugar-coated pills that he had in his pocket was the cause of his fright.

That said Harry (who had the idea, but forgot the precise words)—"Oh, sister, Mrs B. told me to tell you how awfully kind it was of you to sing, as it is so hard to get any one to do it nowadays unless they sing well."

That Lizzie Moore, a colored woman, when called upon to plead before Judge Powers, New York, to a charge of cursing and swearing, said: "That old man was choking me and I had to say something."

That Miss Kate Field would sooner have married John Brown than any hero of the war. John is probably well satisfied that it turned out as it did.

That, "Please, sir, how will you have your steak?" shyly asked the pretty waiter girl. "Well done, good and faithful servant," said the dignified young student, impressively.

That, "Jeptha," asked Mrs. Jones, who was writing a letter home, "how do you spell sign?" "S-i n-e," answered Jones, who always spells by sound. "I thought there was a g in it somewhere," remarked Mrs. Jones, doubtfully. "That would make sing of it," responded her husband. "S-i-n-e spells sign."

THREE LITTLE MAIDS FOR SALE AT T. N. & CO'S, PRICE 25 CENTS.

Marine.

Steamer Alexander, Capt. Christensen, returned into the harbor yesterday afternoon from Port Angeles, from whence she had been telegraphed by the master of tea ship Flora P. Stafford, just arrived from Yokohama Upon arriving there Capt. Christensen found that the ship had engaged an American tug, and so returned to port.

Sealing schooner Alfred Adams, Capt. Worth, owned by Gutmann & Frank of this city, has arrived at Neah bay having a fair catch on board. She has evidently escaped the vigilance of the "Corwin."

Spratt's Ark is beached on the reservation near Cook's ways. She is being stripped of her deck houses preparatory to being turned into a freight barge.

Barque Anna Sieben will leave the roads to-day to load at Port Blakeley.

The certificate of Capt. Dobney, of the steamship Oregon, has been suspended for ten days in consequence of colliding with the barkentine Portland.

Capt. Lowell, of the ship Ivy, from Port Townsend, at Melbourne July 19, reported July 12, saw an American vessel of about a thousand tons, hard and fast on Elizabeth reef. Capt Lowell is of the opinion that the vessel was the bark Kitsap, which left Puget Sound some six days before him for Melbourne. The wreck had the mizzenmast carried away at the deck, but the other two masts were standing. Could not see any one on the vessel or reef.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The Coast Seamen's Union to day declared a general strike, and ordered out all its members on coasting vessels on this coast, from San Diego to Puget Sound It is claimed that the union has at least 3600 men on its roll of membership. The coasting sailors base their action on the fact that the Pacific coast ship owners' association have opened a shipping office for coast seamen, by which means sailors who are not members of the coast seamen's union are obtained for coasting vessels. Seven vessels have already been tied up by the seamen's union taking away their crews, who number seventy men.

Australian barque Thomas S. Stowe, moored off the custom house, will load with salmon for England.

Steamer Ancon is due from the north.

[BY TELEGRAPH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Cleared—Steamer Mexico, Victoria.

Sailed—Bark Arcturus, Port Townsend.

GOVERNMENT GUIDE.—W. M. Halpenny, government guide, returned yesterday from Alberni, by way of the Comox pass—a route not previously thought to be easily accessible. He finds that this pass is a lower one by 800 or 1,000 feet than either the Cameron or Horne Lake passes. He is open for engagement by any intending settlers to locate upon agricultural lands anywhere between Englishman's river and the Alberni settlement. Further information can be obtained at the Immigration office.

HIGH FREIGHT RATE.—The C. P. railway is paralyzing shippers with its rates of freight. Here is a specimen from the Vancouver News: "A box of old clothing, classed as dry goods, arrived in this city a few days ago by freight train from Emerson, Manitoba, 1465 miles east, The total charge for carriage is $10.75, the weight being 180 pounds. The consignee says that the box and its contents are not worth more than $5, and that he will leave the trunk in the hands of the C. P. R. company to make what they can out of it."

DEATH.—Mr. John Work, of Hillside, died yesterday from dropsy after an illness of some weeks. He was 47 years of age, and the eldest son of the late Mr. John Work, whose name is strongly associated with the early days of the province, when Vancouver Island was the property of the Hudson's Bay company, in which service, as chief factor, he passed many years. The funeral will leave the residence to morrow (Saturday) at 2 p. m., and St. John's church at 2:30 p. m.

WEEKLY COLONIST.—The Weekly Colonist is issued this morning and is ready for mailing. It is the largest newsiest paper in the province, circulating to a greater extent than any other provincial journal. It contains all the latest foreign and home news, and is replete with local and other interesting matter. Two dollars per annum; single copies ten cents.

A KINGLY TROUT.—A fine specimen of lake trout caught on Wednesday last in Prospect lake, by Mr. John Wilson, weighed 4¼ pounds. This we understand to be the largest yet taken from there. The fish being strong and lively had to be "played" for a considerable time before it could be landed.

BEAUTIFUL SKIN.—Mr. A. Churton, the preparer of skins and furs yesterday showed the skin of a panther, 8 feet from tip to tip, in a fine state of preservation, it having been tanned by him. The fur is silky and retains the natural color, a difficult thing to effect. Mr. Churton's place of business is at 2 Churchway.

DOMINION EXPRESS CO.—Messrs. Hall & Goepel, hitherto joint agents for the Northern Pacific and Dominion Express companies, have been compelled by press of business done by the latter company to resign the agency for the Northern Pacific express.

THE COAL DUST EXPLOSION.—At latest accounts Messrs Allison, Parie and Coffee, the three remaining victims of the combustion of coal dust on the steamship Queen of the Pacific, were steadily improving Hopes are now entertained that James Coffee will pull safely through after a most severe struggle.

SATURNA LIGHTHOUSE. — Tenders for the erection of a wooden lighthouse on Saturna island will be received by the department of marine at Ottawa until the 1st of October.

LACROSSE.—A game of lacrosse will be played at Beacon Hill to-morrow afternoon between the Victoria Lacrosse club and a team from Vancouver.

A Holiday Task.

The meanest teacher on record—and that means a great deal to the children—is the one at Liegnitz in Germany, who gave her class the following problem for a holiday task. From 880,988,899 deduct 629 until nothing remains. The poor girls figured and figured for hours without making much headway; finally their tears attracted the attention of their parents. A simple division will show that the figure 629 is contained in the larger one no less than 14,000,000. Allowing three deductions a minute and twelve hours work a day, it would take over 600 days to do what had been given the girls as a holiday amusement.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—A couple of leading city physicians left for a neighboring country town to hold a post mortem on the body of a girl of 12 years, who, it is supposed, died from the effects of criminal assault by local physicians.

KINGSTON, Aug. 17.—While Forepaugh's den containing four lions was on the way to the station last night the brakes broke and the vehicle, after rushing down the hill in intense darkness, popped into a deep hole and capsized. One side of the cage was broken and one end was knocked clean out, leaving nothing between the wild beasts and liberty. The lions roared terribly, awakening the entire neighborhood, but, strange to say, they did not attempt to leap out of the opening. As quickly as possible boards were placed over the opening and the cage was tied up with ropes and chains. Then boards were taken off the fence and fires lit around the den. By the lurid light of the flames the lions could be plainly seen lying flat and trembling; occasionally they would roar in chorus, but their terrific noise was not loud enough to drown the cries of excited men. A force of fifty men tried to extricate the cage, but failing, two elephants were brought on the scene. They walked about the cage, evidently to see if the lions were secure, and then reached down their trunks, lifted the vehicle out of the ditch, and placed it on the road. The cage, which cost $4,500, is nearly a total wreck. The scene on the street was one our citizens will never forget.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 18 —One of the saddest incidents ever known in St. John occurred last night. Just as William Roberts was led into court to receive his sentence for criminal assault on a young girl named Ella Davis, word was brought to the court that Roberts' wife had just died of a broken heart, from the worry and excitement of the disgrace incurred by her husband. She was the mother of five little children, who were the only ones in the house when the unfortunate woman died. This touching circumstance doubtless softened Judge King's heart, and he inflicted on the father and widower the comparatively light sentence of one year's hard labor, with twelve lashes from the cat-o'-nine tails.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—A most daring and barefaced attempt was made at the Union station this morning to rob a lady who was waiting the arrival of a train. She and another lady were seated in the ladies' waiting room, when a man entered and sat between them. He pulled a newspaper out of his pocket and commenced to read. One of the ladies, Mrs. Geraldine McAuley, began to feel a sickening sensation creeping over her and became aware that the man was holding a bottle without a stopper too close to her nose to be pleasant. She sprang to her feet and spilled a portion of the contents of the bottle, which proved to be chloroform. The man bolted, but was shortly afterwards captured and the bottle of chloroform found in his possession. He was brought before the magistrate and was remanded till to-morrow. He gave his name as William Emery and said he was an army pensioner. He is charged with administering poison to endanger human life.

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The investigation at the police court into the charge of conspiracy to defraud the city by Burns, the coal merchant, and others, is not yet concluded. The feeling is becoming general that the case will break down. At the adjournment of the court yesterday the magistrate allowed the prisoners out on their own bail. Symons, Burns' defaulting book-keeper, after giving his evidence, was arrested on a charge of embezzlement.

HILLSDALE, Aug. 21.—Thomas and Wm. Taylor, brothers, and John Hamilton, belonging to this village, were drowned while fishing in Orr lake. Thomas leaves a wife and four children.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—Sir Charles Tupper who is now en route for Canada, will remain two weeks in Nova Scotia before visiting Ottawa.

The bank statement for July is favorable. The assets are nearly $227 000,000 with liabilities of over $146,000,000.

The funeral of the late John Dougall, founder of the Witness, occurred here today, being largely attended.

Archbishop Fabre, who is honorary chaplain to the Catholic circle here, which contains 300 Knights of Labor in its ranks, has intimated to them that they must immediately sever their connection with the society.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 21 —Mrs. Sawers, of Peterboro, while in the engine room of a steamer on Stone Lake, yesterday, had her skirts caught in the machinery, completely stripping her clothing from her and causing a compound fracture of both legs. It is doubtful if she recovers.

QUEBEC, Aug. 21 —The work of cremating infected cattle is progressing rapidly. The last of the herd of Galloways imported by Thomas McCrae, of Guelph, will probably be exterminated to night.

HALIFAX, Aug. 21.—Legal proceedings have been taken by Archibald McLeod, of Sharpness, Scotland, to upset the will of his deceased brother, Alex McLeod, who died leaving over half a million. His bequest to Dalhousie College is very large.

KINGSTON, Aug. 21.—Word has been received here that Major-General Strange, late of "B" Battalion, has been relieved of his pension by the English government.

Alleged Attempt at Bribery.

It will be remembered that some months ago, Customs Officer Jules Brosseau seized consignments of Messrs. J. C. Ayer & Co.'s patent medicines, valued at over $100,000, for alleged undervaluation, and that the Customs department at Ottawa, after examining into the matter, decided to impose a fine of $147,000, and to confiscate the goods already seized at the different ports. A new phase of the case, however, has just come to light, Mr. Brosseau having laid an information and complaint in the police court, charging a Mr J. A. Walters, insurance agent, with having offered him a bribe of $10,000 for the delivery of certain books and papers of the firm which were seized with the goods. It is also stated that Mr. Walters gave Mr. Brosseau to understand that he was authorized by the Messrs. Ayer to settle the matter with him; that money was no object, and the firm were prepared to spend $200.000 if the case had to be fought through, as the consequences were most important for future operations. A warrant was issued for Mr. Walter's arrest. Mr. Walters says he is prepared with his bail, and that he has retained Mr. M J. F. Quinn as counsel. He denies the charge made against him.

Do Not Delay.

Do not delay, if suffering from any form of Bowel Complaint however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old, reliable cure for all forms of Summer complaints that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines. tu-th-sat-dw.

DELAYED DISPATCHES.

EASTERN STATES.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 25.—Intense heat has prevailed over the entire Northwest during past three days. One dispatch pronounces yesterday the hottest day for years, the mercury making 105 at Fort Seonbrine. At Winnipeg the thermometer registered 105, and a terrific simoon from the Montana deserts had a terribly distressing effect.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The second and last trial race between the four big sloop yachts, Mayflower, Puritan, Priscilla and Atlantic, to decide which shall sail against Lieut. Henn's British cutter Galatea in September, was successfully sailed to-day over a thirty-mile ocean course outside of Sandy Hook. It resulted in another victory for the new Boston sloop Mayflower and in her selection by the committee to defend the cup. She defeated the Puritan by 3 min. 35 sec., the Priscilla by 8 min. and the Atlantic by 9 min. 45 sec., corrected time. The Puritan, which took second place, beat the Priscilla by 4 min. 14 sec., and the Atlantic by 5 min. 56 sec.

WINDSOR, Va., Aug. 25.—A carriage containing Senator Evarts of New York, Chas. C. Perkins of Boston, and Miss Matthews, daughter of Judge Stanley Matthews, was overturned this evening. Mr. Perkins was instantly killed, and Senator Evarts and Miss Matthews were severely bruised, though not seriously injured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Eleven hundred hundred employes of the Broadway and Seventh Avenue surface road were paid off to-day. Superintendent Newell said that since the men refused to accept the terms of the company he will have nothing more to do with them. He has advertised for new men and hopes to start a car this afternoon.

JAPAN.

The cholera returns show that the epidemic is spreading. In Yokohama, up to the 3rd August, there had been 2086 cases of the disease, of which 1197 were fatal. In Osaka, where the epidemic broke out before it did in Yokohama, there had been 10,246 cases, of which 7926 ended fatally. The returns for the entire empire are not compiled. The deaths in Yokohama were all comprised within the space of a month.

The epidemic is said to be as bad as it was in the worst days of 1882. The foreign residents and the better class of the natives enjoy a marked immunity from the disease, its ravages being almost entirely confined to the lower classes.

The Russian minister of war is now at Vladivostock on an inspection tour. He is expected to visit Japan, arriving at Yokohama, through Nagasaki, early next month.

Orders for 4,000,000 fans have been received in Kyoto already this year from England and America. This shows an increase of one-fifth over last year, and prices have consequently appreciated. Three-tenths of the orders are for fans of the best quality, four-tenths for medium and three-tenths for common.

COREA.

Cholera is said to be very bad in Corea and in Keishedo alone 20.000 deaths have been reported. The natives call it a divine visitation and no medical assistance is given to the patients, prayers to the gods being the only thing adopted for the cure of the disease.

A traveler from Seoul to Ninsen witnessed ten corpses of Coreans, who had succumbed to the disease, lying on the road side.

Chi Lewii, a Corean, who is believed to have been dispatched to Japan to assassinate the king, has returned from Japan and been put into prison. It is believed he will be sentenced to transportation.

It is stated that the Russian minister in Corea requested the Corean government to lease a certain place in Kankyodo for a naval station some months ago, but as the Corean government have given no definite reply to the demand, the Russian minister seems impatient in the matter, and it is feared that he may take possession of the place and hoist the Russian flag. The fear has been much increased by the fact that the Russian fleet has been cruising about Gensan.

CHINA.

The Chinese papers describe a fearful and destructive storm of hail and wind which occurred in Shantung last month. The hailstones, of different shapes and sizes, from a pigeon's egg to a human fist or arm, lay six or seven inches deep over several miles. Whole villages were destroyed by a tornado, and men and cattle were lifted and thrown about. A tremendous dragon was heard roaring and seen disporting in the heavens on the occasion.

IMPRINTED BY LIGHTNING.

A Picture Taken in a Thunder Storm.

The New York Tribune, August 15, says: A remarkable freak of lightning recently occurred at Plainfield, N. J. Cornelius D. Paul lives in West Fourth street. The shutters of the bay window in the dining-room of his large frame house were open, and in the centre of the window stood a small stand on which rested a polished old gold Japanese tray Upon this tray the lightning imprinted the photograph of Miss Lilian Paul, a young lady about eighteen years of age. The incidents attending this phenomenon are best described in the following statement which Mrs. Paul has prepared:

I have been requested to give an account of a singular phenomenon or freak of nature that occurred in our house during the recent thunderstorm, on the evening of the 18th of July. The family had all retired early, with the exception of my daughter, who was sitting up awaiting the arrival of the servant, who was expected home any minute. The violence of the storm increased, and the lightning was so vivid and continuous that there appeared to be no cessation between the flashes. My daughter, in stepping into the dining room to close the windows, saw that a small tray that lay upon a table in the bay window was attracting the lightning in what seemed a dangerous manner, being in the centre of an almost constant blaze of light. Approaching for the purpose of removing it, she was suddenly startled by a blinding flash and hastily turned away, but waiting for a few moments for an opportunity she succeeded in drawing it off and covering it with a rug. Nothing else was thought of this until next morning, when, on removing it, we discovered a profile likeness of my daughter apparently burned into the lacquer of the tray. We cannot account for this, except on the hypothesis that the picture must have been photographed by the electric light at the time my daughter drew back so suddenly. Some prominent electricians are investigating the case, and we contribute these few facts in the interest of science. FANNIE W. PAUL.

HIS OLD FRIEND LONSDALE.

EDMOND YATES TAKES HIS REVENGE AND RUNS IT IN.

(London World, Aug. 10.)

A number of correspondents both known and unknown announce themselves as anxiously expecting remarks in this journal on the further insight into the manners and customs of the British peerage afforded by the appearance of Earl Lonsdale in the Newcastle Police Court. The interest is gratifying, if somewhat unexpected; for really we have but few remarks to make. We are not in the least surprised at Lord Lonsdale's escapade. It is entirely in accord with his former proceedings. In July 1885, he gets into a fisticuff wrangle in a public park about Mrs. Langtry, an actress. In July 1886 he beat the husband of Miss Violet Cameron.

Lord Lonsdale had for the past three weeks been traveling with her, interesting himself in her theatrical engagements, finding the money, and being otherwise engaged in the management of the Commodore Company. That Lord Lonsdale should have been traveling for three weeks with Miss Violet Cameron, or Miss Maude de Montmorency, or Miss Nita Spoof will surprise no one who knows his Lordship or his Lordship's family.

THE WICKED OLD LORD LONSDALE, whom Thackeray drew as Lord Colchicum, might have traveled with Miss Blenkinsop or Corlie, his relations with whom evoked the great moral outburst, "an English peer and a horse-rider from Franconis," from the lips of Foker. But there the wicked old nobleman would have drawn the line and would not have gone into the management for Mlle. Coralie any more than he would permit her mother, Mme. Brack, to soil his tebetiere with her dubious fingers. He would not have fought battles in public parks, and would not have attacked a man physically his inferior, nor would he have brought himself within the ken of a police court. He was a gentleman, and though he may have had the morals of a monkey, he did not combine with them the appearance of a hostler and the manners of a pig.

Doubtless our contemporary, The Era, contains advertisements of "The Commodore company, under the management of Hugh Cecel Lowther, Earl Lansdale. Vice-Admiral of Cumberland and Westmoreland. Few vacant seats. Apply early to Lother Castle, Penrith."

However extensive his acquaintance, howevir close his connection with the theatrical ladies, was the only one, it must be said, who ever gave the smallest evidence of the possession of common intelligence, the only one who ever proved he could do something beyond hunt, drink, drive, and drab. The second Earl would certainly not have posed as the Crummles of a company on a tour.

If our correspondents wish for any really apposite interesting opinions on this unlovely case, they should endeavor to get them from the Duke of Beaufort, the Marquis of Worcester, the Marquis of Huntly and a number of other noblemen and gentlemen, who in January, 1885, swore to establish affidavits testifying their belief in the conjugal honor and the spotless marital fidelity of injured innocent to whom public attention has been drawn twice within twelve months in connection with the different actresses.

How do hard-riding, honest, cleanly-living Leicestershire men, who are followers of the Pytchley, feel towards this assaulter of Violet's little foreign husband? What do they think of their friend now? What does the Duke of Beaufort think of his protige? What does the Marquis of Huntly, brother of the lady, who twice within twelve months had her domestic unhappiness commented upon by implication in public prints, think of his brother-in-law? And H. R. H. the Prince of Wales the censor morium, that pitiless critic of tailors, buttons and journalistic etiquette, who cackled over The World egg with even more than usual fussiness, what does he think?

One would like to hear the candid opinion of Sir Henry James on his late distinguished client, to to the enumeration of whose virtues, in which for once he fully believed, as did every one else in court—especially Lord Westmoreland—he devoted such eloqnence. Sir Henry James is a bachelor, a man of society, but no breath of scandal has has ever blown a grain of powder from his wig, and si non caste tamen caute, in his guiding principal. The ears of right honorable gentleman if he can't call to mind the picture he painted before the court of the domestic felicity of this Arthur of the Amphitheatre, this Galahad of the green-room.

Crummles is not a Prussian. We wish he was. Far better he were anything than what he is—an English nobleman. The peerage does not stand very high just now. Like other ancient institutions it is on its trial. Its most dangerous foes will be found within own ranks. No Democratic impeachment, no Socialists harangue could upon intelligent masses, have half such damatory effect as the penny papers' police report of the vulgar amours and insolent brutality of the Earl of Lonsdale.
